

FINDING JOBS FOR SOLDIERS

(By Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Ten thousand employers are co-operating with San Francisco's municipal army and navy placement committee, a city employment bureau for war veterans.

Psychological mating of the job and the man, by individual study of the returned fighter's experience and aptitude, and handling each case separately and individually has resulted not only in the placing of 1217 in positions here in the past six months, but created a demand on the part of the employers for men from this service which now has increased a steady flow of men to jobs.

Commissioner Charles Wright, who established the bureau six months ago, reports about seventy professions and trades represented in the list of men already given employment and there is not a single case of which a satisfactory relation has not been finally established between a returned fighter and his new employer.

The Misses F. C. Ashe and M. Ostrom are assistants in this psychological work of fitting heroes into happy jobs. The files of the office are accumulating letters of satisfaction from employers and postwar employees.

Commissioner Wright has found that it is essential to success of the work, not only to find some sort of a job for the returned soldier or sailor, but to find the sort of a job that he wants and will like.

EMINENT EASTERN ENGINEER INSPECTING THE DIVIDE

R. E. McConnell, one of the leading mining engineers of the United States, recently visited the Divide district as the guest of I. P. Carpenter and expressed himself very favorably about the character of the development. Mr. McConnell is consulting engineer for the syndicate composed of the Seeley, Mudd and Wiseman interests which control the United Eastern at Oatman, Ariz.

Nobody has yet located the key to the telegraphers' strike.

FEAR TRANSFER OF A MOSQUE

(Correspondence Associated Press)

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 5.—The faithful Turk does not visit the great Mosque of St. Sophia as frequently as he used to for he considers it a foregone conclusion that St. Sophia will become a Christian church as it was in the fifth and sixth centuries. One can always have an argument in Constantinople over the question of whether the church will revert to the Greek orthodox or Roman Catholic communion.

Christian architects already have visited the mosque and are making their plans for the transformation of the church when it is taken from the Turks. The faint mosaic of Christ above the Mihrab which has been almost invisible for centuries will be renewed and the mosaics of the apostles under the small dome in the north end of the church also will be restored. Turkish inscriptions of all sorts will be torn down and replaced by Christian symbols.

The devil's face in the marble facings under the big dome and the alleged impression in stone of the hand of "Mehmet the Conqueror," also will be retained as a reminder of the tenth of May, 1453 when Mehmet climbed upon a heap of Christian corpses in the church. Constantine built and smote the wall with hand still bloody from the bodies of the Christian slain.

There is a possibility that the conversion of St. Sophia for Christian worship may meet with some opposition from Great Britain. At present there are many Indian troops in Constantinople and if St. Sophia should be taken from the Moslems it is feared that dissatisfaction among them might eventually have its echo in India and other parts of Islam.

German Mine Leaders Resign From Office

(Correspondence Associated Press)

BERLIN, May 15.—No longer willing to take the responsibility for the "economic need and incalculable suffering" caused by repeated strikes, leaders of the old Miners' Union associations in the Ruhr district have tendered their resignations. These men, most of whom are majority Socialists, have bitterly opposed the strikes which for weeks have been disrupting the coal fields.

"Strikes begin over the heads of responsible leaders and against our advice," the retiring officials say in a statement accompanying their resignations, "and are not answerable to our comrades."

"A large portion of our members and officials are prevented from attending miners' meetings and are shouted down, cursed and threatened, while irresponsible 'word heroes' work in the most senseless manner for the destruction of our association in order to attain their political purposes, which lead to economic and political anarchy and prepare the ground for counter-revolution opposition. They see in the Spartacist their ally and peacemaker.

"By strikes the number of workless Germans has been doubled, industry, lamed, hunger lengthened, food importation prevented, the economic, financial and political breakdown of the German republic brought into the near future, and unionized discipline destroyed.

"We decline responsibility for all that. Our conscience, our honor, our past filled with sacrifices, and our love of our comrades force us to abandon definitely a path which many of our members appear to be taking."

VALUE OF AN ORGANIZATION

(By Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 24.—The importance of organization, as exemplified during the war emergency, and a plea to secure a possible membership of 200,000 of which only 10 per cent now are enrolled were brought out in an address today by Frank B. Connolly of San Francisco, former president of the Retail Grocers' Association of the United States which is holding its annual convention. He said in part:

"When Herbert C. Hoover was appointed United States food administrator, he realized it was necessary to inaugurate an effective system of food control in the shortest possible time. He summoned to Washington the members of the executive board of our national association, representing every section of the country, and formed the committee on retail distribution.

"The justification of our twenty-six years of existence as a great national association was never more clearly demonstrated than during the past two years. Let us now go forward with a determination to increase the size and efficiency of our organization.

"In order to broaden the scope of our association we should add to our title, in some manner, the word 'Merchants,' to recognize beside retail grocers, the various retail merchants engaged in other lines of business. I advocated this change at our convention in New Orleans, in 1918. The objections at that time were that since 70 per cent of our members are retail grocers, or engaged in the general merchandise business, there was no necessity for organizing other lines of trade. The fact remains, however, that nearly every state association that constitutes our national organization, embodies the word 'Merchants' in its title, in fact the majority of our state associations are merely Retail Merchants Associations and do not mention the word 'Grocer' in their title. This applies to such states as Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Colorado, Utah, and many other of our affiliating states.

SOUL TRANSFER AN IRISH MYTH

(Correspondence Associated Press)

DUBLIN, May 18.—Dr. Douglas Hyde, professor of Irish in the National University of Ireland, has been delivering a series of lectures on Irish folklore at Alexandra college, Dublin, and has made many interesting new discoveries. He said there must have existed in the middle ages in Ireland, a whole cycle of literature dedicated to famous animals. He had recorded some surviving specimens of it and translated them for the first time.

He showed that the ancient Irish were familiar with the transmigration of souls and that even in the last century some traces of the belief remained. In County Roscommon a poem was written a century or a century and a half ago telling of a pig which, having eaten an Irish manuscript, spoke and told the owner how it had been a great singer among the Turks, fought at Aughrim against the Irish and been a hackler in France.

The Irish question has reached Paris. Look out for the three-bell alarm.

CREELS BRING BACK A FORTUNE

(Correspondence Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, May 26.—When representatives of the famous Creel family of Chihuahua recently appeared before the government officials here with requests for information regarding the whereabouts of mining, railway and other valuable stock valued at close to 2,000,000 pesos, they were astonished to learn that the stock, as well as about 2,000,000 pesos in paper money, was held by the national treasury for identification of ownership and that it only had been discovered a few months ago.

According to published accounts, workmen, while cleaning out a spare room in the building used by the federal district government, found a score of locked boxes which contained the paper money and shares. Neither the governor of the federal district, General Alfredo Breceda, nor the district court, after guarded investigations, could determine who owned the treasure, so it was turned over in trust to the national treasury.

The theory is that, during the first revolutionary troubles which resulted in the downfall of Porfirio Diaz, the boxes were sent from Chihuahua to a private residence of the Creels here and that, when the Zapatistas first entered Mexico City, they were placed in charge of the federal district government.

The Creel representative stated that a large sum of metallic currency and a valuable collection of jewels also were being sought, but of these easily realizable riches, no trace has been discovered.

If William Gibbs McAdoo is nominated for the presidency it will be on the platform that he is a "business man." Is the motion picture trust a "business?"
